Dear Councillor Devereux,
I've lived in Cambridge for a good portion of my life and now at the age of 30 I consider it to be my home. My family has lived in this community well before I was born and we have always considered it to be a city that not only stands up for each other, but a city that stands for others who may be less fortunate. It is important to me that as a city, we support the Mass. against HP movement.

I am someone who cares deeply about the rights of immigrants and the rights of incarcerated people. I also strongly believe we should stand up for international law when the goal is to fight against an apartheid ethno-state. I believe in justice and I'm sure that you do too. Historically, Cambridge has usually been on the right side of history in domestic and international matters; we should continue that tradition.
Thank you for your time.
Sincerely,
Simran Fitzgerald, Cambridge resident
